SINO-JAPANESE PROBLEM EXPANSIVE

Believe Japan Is Now Seeking "Out" In Warfare With Chinese Nation

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—The United States will spurn any effort by Japan to inveigle it into the role of sole mediator of the Sino-Japanese conflict, International News Service was informed by a responsible authority today.

As earnest as is the desire of the American government to effect a speedy end to the sanguinary war in the Orient, the United States will not forsake other western powers with interests in the Far East.

Concerns All Powers
The United States is represented as adamant in its belief that the Sino-Japanese problem is one that concerns not one power, but all the powers who are guaranteed rights in China under the nine power pact.

While Japan has carefully avoided making a formal request for the United States to pull out of the Brussels conference and offer her offices as a solitary mediator, Tokyo has sent up numerous trial balloons to this effect in Tokyo, Washington and Brussels during the past two weeks.

Japan is eager for the United States to act in this capacity, it was learned, in order to break down the united front of democratic nations against fascism, which is the real maneuver going on behind the scenes at Brussels.

But the United States holds firmly to the view, despite Tokyo's vehement protestations to the contrary, that Japan has violated the nine power pact in which the power pact.

Japan May Recognize Gen. Franco's Regime

By JAMES R. YOUNG
International News Service Staff Correspondent

TOKYO, Nov. 13.—The recently concluded Italo-German-Japanese pact against communism appeared likely today to bear further profit-official recognition of the insurgent Spanish regime by Japan.

A usually well informed source told International News Service that the Japanese government will recognize rebel General Francisco Franco's rule in Spain, and that preparations for this development are now under way.

At the same time, this source said he had been informed of heavy New York shipments of munitions and special raw materials to Japan.

He said these shipments were being made aboard freighters which were refusing to accept their usual quota of a dozen passengers each for the voyage to the Orient.

The information obtained by International News Service was particularly borne out by a report in the newspaper Asahi, which said the Japanese foreign office was "considering" recognition of the Spanish insurgents.

Former Democratic Senator From Ohio, Dies Of Bronchial Pneumonia At 73

(International News Service)

Pomerene had a distinguished career after his service as United States Senator. He was a special prosecutor in the Teapot Dome oil scandals and President Hoover appointed him chairman of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation in 1932.

In 1887, a year after his graduation from Cincinnati Law School, he was appointed city solicitor of Canton, O. Ten years later he was elected prosecuting attorney for Stark county.

A case that brought him into national prominence was his prosecution of the woman slayer of a brother of Mrs. William McKinley, wife of the then United States Senator from Ohio.

DEATH BREAKS DATE WITH GIRL

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 13.—Mystery today shrouded the death of a young dentist whose life was ended by anesthetic gas from a mask attached to his face as three patients waited unawares in the ante-room of his office.

The victim was Dr. Nathan Saul, 27, whose body was found by Dr. M. A. Sherman, a physician with an office in the same building. Dr. Sherman was summoned when one of the waiting patients became suspicious.

Mystery was added to the death by notes scrawled with a pen on a large envelope which apparently were an attempt to record the sensations felt by the dentist as he "went under." The read: "Sight is good... hearing is decreasing... eye-sight is decreasing... pulse is bad... smell is good...."

Death Breaks Date.
The death broke a date Dr. Saul had made with his fiancée, Miss Selma Smith. She told detectives they talked by telephone and that Dr. Saul had arranged to meet her later in the evening. An hour later, he was found dead, slumped over his desk with the anesthetic machine mask over his face.

Police under the direction of Dr. S. M. Saul, a brother of the dead man, worked futilely for almost two hours with an inhalator, attempting to revive him. Dr. Sherman said he felt the pulse immediately upon discovering the body but found no trace of the heart beat. An autopsy ordered by Coroner W. J. McGregor showed death was due to asphyxiation by gas.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—Administration financial leaders spoke in concert today to reassure "jittery" businessmen they have nothing to fear from the forthcoming session of Congress.

As legislators trekked back to the capital for the opening of the special session Monday, spokesmen for the treasury, federal reserve board, the securities and exchange commission and the reconstruction finance corporation promised co-operation in halting the downward movement of industry.

Republicans To Battle New Deal

Leaders Convinced Roosevelt Administration Is Now Slipping

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—Convinced the Roosevelt administration is slipping, Republican congressional leaders today declared war on major New Deal legislation. The "progressive" attack will be led by Charles L. McNary, of Oregon, Republican leader in the senate and veteran political strategist, who asserted his party will drop its cloak of silence in congress for two reasons:

1. To "expose" the objectionable features of the Roosevelt legislative program during the special and regular sessions of congress.
2. To determine political issues the Republicans will use as ammunition for mid-term congressional elections and the 1940 presidential campaign.

He called for a spirited rebirth of the party and denounced the mid-term proposals of former President Roosevelt and John D. M. Hamilton, chairman of the Republican National committee.

Haiti Seeks Assistance In Settling Dispute, Along With Cuba And Mexico

(BULLETIN)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—The United States government was asked today by President Vincent of Haiti to join with Cuba and Mexico in mediating the Haitian-Dominican republic crisis.

The state department declined to comment on the request, pending a decision which will hinge on the action of Cuba and Mexico.

President Vincent's action indicated a breakdown in the effort to reach a satisfactory understanding with Trujillo, president of the Dominican republic.

The crisis was precipitated by disturbances in the Dominican republic in which the Haitian government charged that Dominican soldiers had slaughtered approximately 5,000 Haitian sugar cane workers who had gone into the Dominican republic under work permits issued by that country to harvest the sugar cane crop. The Dominican republic denied these charges, claiming there were simply "minor disturbances" between landowners and the laborers.

Negro Attendant In Garage Kills White Girl When She Refuses Him Date, Suicides

(International News Service)

MT. CLEMENS, Mich., Nov. 13.—Miss Lillian Willis, pretty 25-year-old stenographer in a downtown garage, paid with her life today for her refusal to give a negro a "date."

The attractive white girl died in St. Joseph's hospital this morning from nine bullet wounds suffered Thursday when William Hathaway, 45, a negro attendant in the garage, shot her. Hathaway committed suicide later.

In a strange "last will and testament" found in her pocketbook by Prosecutor Vincent Fitzgerald, Miss Willis had written:

"To whom it may concern: William Hathaway has been propositioning me, and when I refused to go out with him he threatened to kill me... I would rather be dead than go out with him..."

In the note she also bequeathed all her property to her mother and father.

Dr. Elizabeth Smith, State Health Executive, Loses Son In Spain

WAS SERVING IN RED CROSS

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Nov. 13.—Dr. Elizabeth Smith, whose workaday responsibility is the welfare of mothers and children, was in New York today frantically checking reports that her own 21-year-old son had met death as a Red Cross worker in war-torn Spain.

Dr. Smith, regional director of Pennsylvania's maternal health and child welfare division, left for New York yesterday after receiving reports that her son, Randall B. Smith, had been killed while driving an ambulance on the Spanish front.

Attended Ohio School.
Young Smith, friends of the mother at Ohio university, Athens, O., this fall. Instead, he signed up with the Red Cross in July to join that organization's sanitary service in Spain. His last letter to his mother was sent from Alcala, Spain, and reached here October 17. At that time he disclosed he was driving an ambulance in mercy work.

Reports of his death reached here from Ohio university. Dr. Smith, who intended to confer with Red Cross officials and another son, Edwin Smith, Jr., a WPA theater project employee in New York City, had believed her son attending the peace conference at Geneva and on a European student tour.

Expressing hopes Japan might still see her way clear to negotiate under the pact, though she has twice spurned the conference, Davis declared:

"Far Eastern peace is not merely important to the two participants, but for the world at large. The final analysis is whether international relations shall be determined by arbitrary force or by respect for international treaties... If the conception of change by violence prevails, we shall be faced by international anarchy."

The full assembly, which went into session at 11:30 a. m., heard the text of the Japanese refusal to participate in an "exchange of views" with the conference sub-committee.

Wounded Deer Is Found By Hunters

(International News Service)

While hunting yesterday in Plain-grove township, Chief of detectives Ray Showalter, James Hinsh and Jack Melvin discovered a deer with both hind legs broken. The deer was on the farm of Bernard Shaw. They believe the deer broke its legs on a fence.

They were in a quandary as to what to do because the deer was suffering intensely. Several hunters came long and all of them came to the opinion the deer should be killed. Showalter dispatched the deer, cleaned it, then notified Game Protector Frank Coen.

The deer was brought to New Castle, placed in a refrigerator and will be given to some charitable institution.

Japanese Planes Blast Path For Nanking Drive

Capture Of Kiating, Northwest Of Shanghai, Also Claimed By Japanese

NEW CHINESE LINE HEAVILY ATTACKED

Japan Hopes To Capture Nanking And Bring Warfare To End

(BULLETIN)

SHANGHAI, Nov. 13.—Japanese forces have captured Kiating, northwest of Shanghai. Nipponese commanders claimed today as they unleashed a smashing attack on the left flank of the new Chinese defense line.

At the same time, Japanese planes blasted a path for the coming drive against Nanking.

Announcement that Kiating had been occupied was contained in an official communique, issued as the Japanese launched a big push against the Chinese forces between Kiating and Liuhou. Until Kiating fell, it was stated, Chinese entrenchments in this area had remained intact.

A few minutes later the Japanese announced capture of Kashi, southwest of the metropolis, and one of the important centers along the Shanghai-Hangchow railroad. It was claimed the advancing Rising Sun troops had reached a point with seven and a half miles of Quinsan.

At the same time, Japanese mine sweepers were clearing the entrance to the Whangpoo river of mines, paving the way for entry of more warships and transport vessels. The boom which had been placed in the river to protect the captured Nantao district was removed.

Plan Major Offensive
The flanking maneuver will be the forerunner of a major offensive by which Japan hopes to capture the Chinese capital and break China's military resistance, thus ending the war.

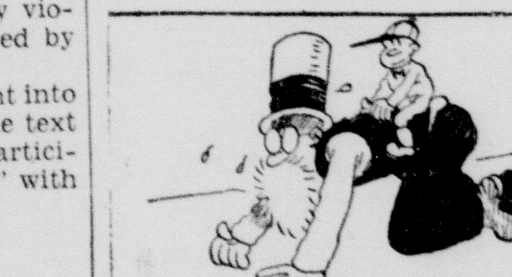

Meanwhile, Japanese planes dropped leaflets on the city of Soochow, warning residents to evacuate by midnight. This was taken as an indication the Japanese intend a mass bombing of the town.

United States Ambassador Nelson T. Johnson, at the request of American missionaries in the threatened area, suggested to Japanese authorities that they create a safety zone, including the hospital at Soochow, for non-combatants who remain in the danger zone.

Meanwhile, the Americans at Soochow, including missionaries, doctors and nurses, left Soochow this morning. It was estimated 20,000 Chinese wounded are in the hospitals there. Before the leaflets were dropped.

Extortion Letter Sent To Actress

Youth Held For Inquiry

Report Demand Made That Marion Davies Pay $1,000 To Letter Writer

FEDERAL MEN ARE PROBING CASE

(International News Service)
LOS ANGELES, Nov. 13.—Department of Justice operatives announced today they had arrested a 20-year-old youth for questioning in connection with an attempted extortion of $1,000 from Marion Davies, lovely film star.

Apprehended in a cheap downtown hotel, he gave his name as John Timmy and said he recently arrived here from Detroit.

Timmy, the federal agents said after he had been questioned verbally, admitted writing a letter to the star demanding money.

According to Miss Ella Williams, the film star's secretary, the letter was received Wednesday at Miss Davies' home in Santa Monica.

"Don't notify police or federal men or you'll get it. Prepare to pay $1,000 or else," it read in part.

Fails To Appear

The letter, mailed the day before and bearing an arcade postoffice cancellation, demanded that Miss Davies wear dark glasses and be at the "California show" at 8 p. m., Thursday.

The writer asserted he could be identified by a leather jacket he would wear.

When police were advised of receipt of the letter, two women operatives, disguised as Miss Davies, were assigned to wait at the appointed time at the California theaters in Los Angeles and Venice Thursday night.

No one answering to the writer's description made an appearance that night, however. Federal operatives then were called in on the case.

on Soochow, this city bore the brunt of an aerial attack which gave point to the Nipponese warning.

See Double Offensive

Henry McNulty, a member of the Episcopal church staff at the inland city, said the Japanese warplanes bomb the city daily. He said conditions here are so bad that Americans in charge of the wounded had decided to move them further into the interior.

The eventual aim of the Japanese, he added, seemed to be a double offensive aimed at both Nanking and Hangchow.

The Japanese attack against the new Chinese "Hindenburg" line is being carried out by six motorized and fast-moving columns.

Meanwhile, from Hong Kong it was reported the British steamer Kaiying was held up by a Japanese warship while enroute to Hong Kong from Saigon. Naval officials were investigating the matter. Reported seizure of the British vessel was not confirmed.

Other Hong Kong advices stated that a possible Japanese attempt to occupy southern Chinese ports was indicated when an effort was made to land a strong party of marines at Swatow. These reports said the Japanese were beaten off by Chinese shore batteries.

Renewed Japanese activity was apparent in the Canton and Amoy districts, with planes and warships scouting the coast, apparently to estimate the defenders' strength.

ers, including Japan, agreed to respect the territorial and administrative integrity and sovereignty of China.

Japan's Contentions

Japan contends she is fighting a war of self-defense for her rights in China. She insists she has no intention of taking over the five North China provinces. But it is believed here that, though she may not in the end establish a puppet state, in North China as she did in Manchukuo, Japan will control completely whatever government is set up.

The United States has adopted a fundamental policy of non-recognition of lands conquered by armed force. She has refused to recognize either Manchukuo or Ethiopia. She has, therefore, it was pointed out, no intention of being placed in the position, by acting as sole mediator, of sanctioning dismemberment of China.

Japan Seeks "Out"

Meanwhile, it becomes increasingly apparent in official circles here that Japan wants an "out." She has named her principal military objectives after four months of terrific fighting at enormous cost. Her armies have overrun virtually all of the five northern provinces, putting a total of 300,000 square miles of Chinese soil, a territory as large as half the Eastern United States, under the flag of the Rising Sun. She has pushed China well out of the Shanghai area, with 400 square miles under her control there.

Chinese withdrawal from Shanghai and Japan's rapid push toward Nanking, the capital, in the opinion of military observers here, is aimed at destruction of Chiang Kai-Shek's crack army before the nine power conference can act.

Official reports show the undeclared war thus far has cost China 300,000 casualties, against a Japanese loss of 123,000, with total war expenditures by Japan totalling $850,000,000, and by China $550,000,000.

Detective Lieut. L. J. Swan, who conducted the investigation in cooperation with federal agents, said the three men, all ex-convicts, will be tried in the February term of common pleas court before Judge Henry Clay Worth.

Several Machines In Traffic Wreck Near Rose Point

Several automobiles, a truck and a "wrecker" were involved in an accident near the Rose Point bridge, Route 422, about 6:30 p. m., yesterday, according to State Motor Policeman Hoke. The names of all drivers have not yet been learned, he reports.

Two cars travelling in opposite directions descended the hills on each side of the bridge which spans the Slippery Rock and sidweped. One of the automobiles upset.

F. M. Butler of Court street drove his car down the hill, between the two machines, to render assistance and a car in his rear, driven by B. H. Zannoth, Detroit, skidded when Zannoth applied the brakes.

Zannoth's auto struck Butler's machine.

A truck driver stopped his truck at the accident scene to give aid. He steered his truck to the side of the road. In the meanwhile a wrecker which was sent for arrived.

Samuel M. Golden, Philadelphia, drove his car down the hill, applied the brakes and his auto skidded into the wrecker from Portersville and this caused the wrecker to hit the truck.

David Molot who was an occupant of Golden's car was injured and taken to the Jamison Memorial hospital for treatment. He was discharged later.

The cars, truck and wrecker were damaged, Hoke reports.

But how many of those who burn wood know that there is a difference in the kind of wood you burn. Certain woods possess peculiar beauty when they are burning. Old apple wood burns cleanly, brightly and serenely with a delicate and spicy fragrance. Oak and maple, while good to last, do not make as pretty a flame as the others mentioned.

It is so common for boys and girls who graduate at the New Castle high school to go to college together that they are prone to imagine that this has always been the custom, but it has not. Verdict Awarded In Price Case

Mrs. Blodwin Taylor Price Gets Award Of $11,174 Against Refractories Co.

The jury in the case of Mrs. Blodwin Taylor Price against the New Castle Refractories Company, which has been on trial all week before Judge James A. Chambers at Lawrence county court, returned a verdict in favor of the plaintiff for $11,174.

The case was given to the jury about 4 o'clock Friday afternoon. An agreement was reached at 1 o'clock this morning. The verdict was sealed and delivered when court convened today.

The case was one in which Mrs. Price was suing for the death of her husband, Harry Price, formerly employed as a grinder in the refractories company plant. The question at issue was whether his death was the result of his inhaling dust or whether it resulted from natural causes.

A large amount of expert testimony was called to show that the refractories company plant was equipped with an approved dust collector and also as to the nature of the disease which caused Mr. Price's death.

It is understood that the defense will ask for a new trial.

COOPERATION IN AIDING BUSINESS IS NOW PROMISED

to help the nation's railroads. Jones also recommended revision of the controversial undistributed corporate earnings tax to protect weak and debt-ridden corporations.

Mindful that the nation's utilities can give a fillip to business through plant expansion and modernization, SEC Chairman William O. Douglas urged recalcitrant power groups to register with the commission as specified by the utility holding company act. He promised sympathetic treatment to all companies which up to now have fought the utility act in the courts.

Need Co-operation

Davis expressed vigorous opposition to further devaluation of the dollar at this time. The solution of the current business problem, he contended, lies in closer co-operation between the government, the banks, labor and industry, rather than new monetary measures.

"Some think if the gold content of the dollar were made smaller they would get more dollars for their goods and that would further lighten their burden of debt and increase their income," Davis asserted.

"It is hard to follow this reasoning at this time. The result would be a further readjustment of all the exchanges with no relative advantage to any country involved.

"I am not pessimistic as to our ability to weather this business squall, provided all members of the national team—the government, labor, banks and industry—will co-operate with good sense and good humor in the general public interest."

Jones emphasized there is nothing to justify the present feeling of uncertainty and uneasiness on the part of business.

"There seems to be every reason we will have tax revision that will be very helpful," he declared. "I think the railroads should be allowed rate increases, although the carriers also should economize."

The couple was married at the parsonage of the Grace M. E. church of Oil City, with the Rev. Samuel L. Maxwell, former pastor of the Epworth M. E. church of this city, officiating.

They were attended by the sister and brother-in-law of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur M. Ramsey, Jr., of Meadville, and the bride's mother, Mrs. Charles B. McEwen.

Mrs. Vredenburg is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles B. McEwen, Cumberland avenue, and is graduate of the local high school in the January '30 class and of the New Castle Business College. For the past four years she has been associated with the Keystone-Lawrence Transfer and Storage Company.

Mr. Vredenburg is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry D. Vredenburg, of Jackson Center, Mercer county. He attended the St. Gregory's school at Zelenople and is associated with the Cooper-Bessemer Corporation of Grove City.

Having returned from a wedding trip to Harrisburg, New York City, Atlantic City and other points, Mr. and Mrs. Vredenburg are residing in their newly furnished residence at 119 North Mulberry street, this city.

FORMER LOCAL GIRL HONORED ON VISIT

Honoring Miss Mildred McClelland, of Gary, Ind., and formerly of New Castle, Laura Snider entertained a group of friends at her home on North Mercer street Wednesday evening.

The time was spent in playing bridge, with prizes for high score going to Mrs. William Coulter and Jane McClintock. At conclusion of the contest, lunch was served by the hostess at small tables, which were re-arranged and decorated in keeping with the Thanksgiving holiday.

The evening climaxed when the honoree was showered with an array of dainty hankies.

Miss McClelland has been the guest of friends and relatives in this vicinity for the past week. She plans on concluding her visit Sunday, when she will return to her home in Gary, Ind.

LEARNING TO LEAD

MEN who formerly pooh-poohed the idea of women participating in politics may now lift reverent eyes toward the ladies. For now it seems that the fair sex threatens to become better informed on local, national and even international affairs than are their sluggish husbands or brothers.

The School of Political Science being conducted by the young women's unit of the National Republican club, in any event, seems to suggest in its 1937-38 program that the civic interests of womanhood are indeed myriad.

"The Labor Movement in America," "Political Philosophies" and "Isolation Versus Collective Security" are but a few of the intellectual morsels to come under feminine scrutiny. And such subjects obviously show with what seriousness the erstwhile semi-submerged housewives are viewing domestic and world-wide conditions.

And well they might, what with the present war-mania growing more menacing, not to mention the numerous ills that seem to have beset democracy during the current struggle against political, social and economic extremism.

HOW TIMES HAVE CHANGED

It was back in 1929 that Professor Robert E. Rogers, of M. I. T., advised college graduates to "marry the boss's daughter." Now, however, the professor is in a mood to revise his counsel.

"You see," he says, "by marrying the boss's daughter, young men took the chance of incurring the boss's liabilities."

This is simply a facetious reminder that many things advisable during the late, lamented era of Coolidge prosperity have become passe as a result of adverse economic conditions.

Even the boss's daughter has probably acquired a skeptical, critical viewpoint. And so it is probably just as well for the college boys to drop all aspirations for princely affiliation with economic royalists and simply knuckle down to brass tacks.

CHRISTMAS TREE CROP

On thousands of hillside, men are cutting down the little spruces and firs, and other evergreens, and hauling the little Christmas tree to the railroad stations. Soon they will blossom out with flowers of glittering tinsel, and fruit and candy and all good things, while the children shout with Christmas glee.

Some people say the cutting of all these little trees spoils a future forest. But the rough soil on which these evergreens are cut would not grow much else.

The Christmas tree tells the children of crowded tenements, that there is a happier, no healthier life under God's blue sky, and they would better aim to escape from their congested areas into this sweeter environment. It tells us that the power that makes the world beautiful is only sleeping its winter sleep, and will soon rise again to cover the world with joyous verdure.

"PAIN" OF THINKING

Straight thinking is no easy business. It is a painful process, and sometimes has the effect of bruising the individual who follows his own reasoning and refuses to subscribe to formulas merely because they happen to be widely accepted. Addressing the Amherst Alumni Council, faculty and students, Dr. George E. Vincent, former head of the Rockefeller Foundation, declared the "chief task" of education is "to help students to use their minds, to learn to think and, if possible, to think for themselves." This is a big order, and as Dr. Vincent said:

"When we urge college students to think, we are getting them into a difficult business. Not only will they find the self-discipline arduous; they are only too likely to get themselves thoroughly disliked. People resent differences of opinion. It annoys them to have their assumptions questioned. It is particularly irritating to be asked what they mean by what they say."

True enough. But "is this true?" is a far better companion in life that seeks to be intelligent than the more comfortable "They say." We are lazy in our mental processes, most of us, incapable of thinking things through either because we follow the lazy way of accepting pre-digested opinion, or because we have not in our formative days forced ourselves to work out our own conclusions. J. G. Holland more than half a century ago maintained the times demanded

Tall men, sun-crowned, who live above the fog
In public duty and in private thinking.
Our own times demand no less.

AMERICAN SHIPS FOR AMERICAN GOODS

The continued plight of the American merchant marine should be sufficiently familiar by this time to the people. It has remained for Chairman Kennedy of the Maritime Commission to summarize the most practical remedies for "this very sick industry."

There is much more to his report than the old patriotic argument about keeping the Stars and Stripes afloat on the seven seas. Nor does he advocate more liberal subsidies of American shipping for its own sake—although another branch of the government has been so generous with its largesse for the farmers.

A well-equipped, efficient and modern merchant marine is indispensable to adequate national defense.

In time of peace as much as possible of American goods ought to be carried in American ships because this is sound business. So from two important viewpoints support of our own merchant marine is a wise investment.

There are those who shy at the term "subsidy." Loans and straight-out grants are much better than exorbitant payments for carrying the mails. When the government backs ship construction and operation it has something to show for the money. Subsidy costs of from $25,000,000 to $30,000,000 a year, figures mentioned by Mr. Kennedy, seem modest compared with the sums that have been poured out in other lines. Additional loans will have at least as good security as that provided by surplus crops.

The special session will have its hands full of other business. But at its regular session congress should take cognizance of the need for a merchant marine that will be a bulwark both of national defense and of the country's ocean-borne commerce.

If it becomes a fad and sweeps the country, you need no further proof that it's silly.

Daughter should tell her mother everything. The old dear gets a vicarious kick out of it.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

FOOTBALL IN JUNIOR HIGHS

In the large cities, interscholastic football in the junior high school has not made much headway. In a large school system it is easier for the superintendent of schools to control such matters. In the smaller cities and towns, however, local pressure on him is tremendous.

There are very few educators who believe that football, even basketball, is physically wholesome for the young adolescent, especially when there is high competition, as occurs when a team of one city plays against a team of another city, and sometimes even between schools of the same city. Indeed, the evidence in terms of the growing youth is pretty strong against interscholastic football, even in the senior high school.

If our youths are to be given first consideration—certainly our schools are for them—we cannot justify interscholastic football or basketball in the seventh, eighth and ninth grades (junior high).

The boy then is growing very fast. There is a big strain on his vital organs, especially his heart, during ordinary activity. What must be the strain during a big game with another school?

Team has regular schedule
A little while ago I was riding in a car in a small city of the middle west. I was on my way to speak to a convention of teachers. He told me that his school has a football team with a regular schedule with junior high schools of several other cities. "They are even coaching the boys in the grades of this city," he said. "We must prepare good football timber for the senior high school. I don't believe in it," he continued. "My superintendent doesn't believe in it. I don't know any school man in this part of the state who does. It's wrong. But public demands it."

And who make up the public? Chiefly the parents whose children they help exploit for their own self-amusement. Parents with influence in such a community ought to be the first to do something about it. They certainly should get back of the school superintendent. More parents might indeed, if we had more courageous leaders. It seems to me that many of those school heads should lead the public to more wholesome tastes.

And let me remind my fellow parents of the need of making sure that those youths who are players in any strenuous athletic contests have been examined carefully by a competent physician several times during the season.

A LITTLE GIRL'S QUESTION

She's not very old, but she is old enough to be puzzled by one of life's questions. She is old enough to go to parties and dance with the small boys and have a "keen" time. She is old enough to have boys call her on the telephone and ask if she will go to one of those parties with them.

And one day I heard her ask her mother: "I've known Tom all my life, ever since I was a baby, and I can't see why he is suddenly rushing me NOW."

I didn't stop to hear what her mother answered. She wasn't talking to me. I didn't belong in that conversation. And perhaps my answer would have satisfied her. But I COULD have answered!

You see, she doesn't quite understand that Tom, that old acquaintance who has suddenly decided he'd like to take her to parties. She has known HIM all her life. He hasn't known HER all her life. He's been a girl who lived in the neighborhood. He's been playing baseball and football and marbles and flying kites and having a good time with the other kids. She hasn't been in his life at all.

He's known her name and where she lived. He's talked to her and teased her and played games with her and even danced with her at kid's parties.

But now, suddenly, he sees her as "Does he like it very much?" "That I can't say," Mrs. Roar said, seriously. "You see he hasn't been able to tell me yet."

Bankers Fear Facism.
Is Drain On Industry.
Basic Trouble Unsolved.

By LESLIE EICHEL

Central Press Columnist

BANKERS have become as fearful of Facism as of Communism. Facism is state capitalism—with the state getting virtually everything. In Germany and in Italy, the owner of a manufacturing plant has become the agent of the state; rather, the tool of a political autarchy.

And, in Japan, fear of a Fascist dictatorship has sent stocks tumbling. And an announcement of the Italian-German-Japanese pact was met with extreme pessimism among Japanese businessmen.

The desire of Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, Germany's famed minister of economics and president of the Reichsbank, to get away from it all is caused by the fact that he is ruled by political overlords. These overlords try to overrule the law of economics. (Does this sound as if it were the New Deal? It should not, for to disobey the overlords of Germany—or Italy—means imprisonment. In the United States the New Deal tries to find a way—listens to too many people in fact. There is a great difference.)

SELF-CONTAINED?

Nazidom is trying to make Germany self-contained. Nationalism is carried to an N-th degree in an expanded four-year industrial plan. The nation starves itself to build all sorts of factories, to develop all sorts of substitutes. That is a look toward the next war.

But Schacht sees, as do other international economists, that this nationalism, this effort to become self-sufficient, does exactly the contrary of its intent. It strips a nation within and bleeds it from without. People tighten their belts so that plants can be built to produce war supplies. While they in company with the peoples of other nations of the world, cry for food and clothing that would come as the result, not of isolation, but of trade and free intercourse generally with the other peoples of the earth.

As it is, nations that try to keep trade within themselves moving find they must resort to all possible government outpourings, collected in turn by industry that steadily is running drier of natural flow.

One may apply this to the United States as well as to every other country.

Yes, include "prosperous" England. Once England ceases in its seven-billion-dollar rearmament program, it, too, may see a collapse of prices.

DEVALUATION?

The "high price" madness which has seized the world since the depression continues. It now leads to rumors abroad that the United States again will devalue the dollar. "High prices" gained by devaluation are, of course, delusions. Based on previous values, the price of everything in reality goes lower.

Even the hope that the "devaluation" prices will become real prices through the "priming of the pump" must fail if trade among nations is not resumed on a liberal basis, and earnings are not spread out among those who labor to produce them.

The basic trouble has not been solved in either Germany, Italy or the United States.

We see Schacht's paper warning Germany that the Nazis four-year program either will have to be curtailed, or that death dealing taxes will have to be levied "when the industrial boom has reached its peak"—and a collapse comes.

OUTGOING GOLD

The European flight from the dollar (due to rumors of devaluation) finally has caused some of the immense store of U. S. gold to depart.

This gold has been a curse. We have been a Midas. Everything we have touched has turned to gold—until we have begun to starve.

Now some of the gold is going back into other countries.

But the gold is no good to anybody except as a token of exchange for trade. The gold will save nobody from starving. But the exchange of our cotton, our wheat, (Continued On Page Seven)

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

HE WANTS TO KNOW

Sol! The Duke and Duchess of Windsor are coming to America in November to study conditions among the working classes!

Having apparently wearied of the partying and dancing along the humdrum cocktail circuit, the Duke and his American bride will now devote themselves to observing more substantial realities—the food that goes into workers' dinner pails, the size of paychecks, the kinds of houses workers live in, and the rent they pay. That is, indeed, a different sort of Cook's Tour than England's ex-king has been wont to travel in the United States.

If the Duke and Duchess should drop in for a chat with Labor czar John L. Lewis and William Green, he will find that Labor's breadbasket is by no means poorly stocked with provender.

Come Thanksgiving time, he will find that Labor has netted during the past eleven months, upward of 68 per cent of the national income. He will find that the lower income groups have by no means been the only beneficiaries of Labor's harvest.

The Duke may also be interested in knowing that Great Britain's Railway Staff National Tribunal recently granted rail employees pre-depression wage levels. Let him compare this with the grants of America's eighty-six leading railroads, who on August 5th and October 3rd made wage-booster of Ninety-eight million dollars respectively, to some half million employees. These exceeded 1929 wage levels in some instances by as much as twenty per cent.

In marked contrast to Labor's progress, the Duke of Windsor's income has grown less with the passage of time and whereas a year ago he was working, today he is among the unemployed.

With leading industries blotting out unemployment and lifting pay checks to new highs, no wonder the Duke would like a ground-floor view!

Dear Miss Markel—At what point in a church wedding ceremony should the guests stand? I know that the bride's mother is the last person seated. When should she arrive at the church? MARIE.

Answer: The guests should stand when the wedding march is begun on the organ, at which time the bride procession starts down the aisle. They should remain standing throughout the ceremony and the recessional.

The immediate families of the bride and bridegroom should plan to arrive a few minutes before the appointed hour for the ceremony. They wait until the way is clear for them to go down the aisle.

The bridegroom's mother is seated by an usher in the first pew on the right. The father follows directly behind.

The bride's mother waits in the vestibule until the bride party has arrived, giving late comers a few minutes' grace. After she is seated, guests who arrive after her must stand in the back or go quietly to a side pew in the back.

The bride should arrive one minute after the appointed hour of her wedding so that all will have been seated prior to her entrance.

Miss Markel will promptly mail personal answers to questions from any reader inclosing a self-addressed, three-cent stamped envelope.

AFTER MANY YEARS

Time was she looked at me with eyes aglow,
But that of course was many years ago.

And now she looks me over, much distressed
To see that there are ashes on my vest.

When I was young, and younger, too, was she,
I thought she was a little proud of me.

But now it seems she never fails to note
I over-stuff the pockets of my coat.

"Those papers!" now she says. "Please throw them out.
I don't know why you carry them about."

And now, before you use it and it's seen,
I want to know your handkerchief is clean.

"That tie of yours! I cannot understand
Why you refuse to wear a four-in-hand."

Is that an egg stain gleaming on the shirt?
I wish you'd change that thing before we go.

Are they as careless of the things they wear?"

Street Will Head Field Club Again

Members Re-Elect Him At Annual Meeting On Thursday Night

DIRECTORS CHOSEN; REPORTS ARE HEARD

Albert B. Street was re-elected president of the New Castle Field club when members gathered in the clubhouse Thursday night for their annual business meeting and stag party.

Mr. Street was chosen along with the following officers: W. Keith McAfee, vice president; Robert M. Garland, secretary, and Loy H. Patterson, treasurer. All were re-elected.

Before the board organized the annual election of three directors for three-year terms took place.

Named to the board were Earl S. Machin, Dr. W. W. Horner and Harry L. Gormley. Other members are T. F. Morehead, A. Crawford Hoyt, Robert M. Garland, Albert B. Street, W. Keith McAfee and John R. Preston.

The meeting marked one of the largest and best attended membership sessions in years. Reports of Secretary Garland and the heads of the finance and other committees were received by the members. For the first time in several years, the club reported a net operating profit in spite of increased costs of upkeep and operations.

Improvements Contemplated.

A number of improvements contemplated and discussed at length, most of them coming as a result of the recent successful Field Day. New greens have been built on Nos. 9 and 16. New tees will appear on Nos. 6, 9, 4, 17 and 3. A trestle bridge and improved steps and walks are planned for the steep sides of the hollow between holes Nos. 3, 5 and 6. A number of improvements will be added also in the clubhouse furnishings.

The badminton floor court has been refinished and this popular sport is now being played by members and their families. The children's dancing class will be re-organized shortly and conducted as in the past year.

At the close of the business session, the members enjoyed another of their stag smokers. Cards were played, the badminton court occupied and a lunch was served.

Club officers said today that continued fine weather is attracting players to the fairways and greens. They predict that if a swimming pool is constructed, as planned, in the future, the club will become one of the best equipped in this section of the country.

Mr. Street, the re-elected president, is associated with the printing firm of Miller, Pyle & Street.

Work Of Roofing Armory To Start

Good Progress Being Made On Construction Of East Side Armory

Within a short time the work of putting on the roof of the new Joseph V. Cunningham Armory will be started, it was said today by Walter N. Todd, manager of the New Castle office, WPA. The order for the materials has been placed with the G. W. Moody Company, of New Castle, and consists of the following materials:

Thirty thousand pounds of pitch, 8,000 pounds of asphalt, 744 squares of 15 pound roofing felt, 260 pounds of celotex, 930 square yards of metal.

The stables are nearly completed up to the roof line, the floors have been poured and the administration unit and bar joists have been put into place in the stables.

At the airport at Parktown Corners the work of blacktopping the runways is moving along fast. The work of putting down the cover is about 50 per cent completed, and today the oil goes on as the last topping material over what has been laid.

CONSTRUCTION OF CATCH BASINS

Construction of catch basins in North Mill street at Sycamore Way will improve conditions in that thoroughfare and it is not likely that street car patrons will be required to wade through water pools during summer or slush during winter. The department of streets and sewers is now engaged in rectifying a water condition in South Jefferson street near the Pennsylvania Engineering Works. Following each heavy rain water flowed into the plant. The improvement under way is intended to alleviate the situation.

Growth, sale and use of Marihuana weed is forbidden in the United States, a law concerning this having become effective in October. New Type Pole May Be Seen In Alley Space conservation is the prime advantage of the newly installed steel poles which carry Pennsylvania Power Company transformers in Sycamore Way, between North Mill street and Apple Way.

Pointing to the space saving factor of the new poles as compared to those of wood, Louis B. Round, company head, said: "This is an experiment for us. It's the first time we have used steel poles for such purposes. In narrow thoroughfares like this space is a factor and the stubby upper bars of the new poles save room."

Polk Is To Get New Building

State Asks Bids Today; Three Large Buildings Are Planned

The Polk State school at Polk is to be greatly enlarged to "provide adequate accommodations for additional hundreds who need its care and training." It was learned today when the General State authority in Harrisburg announced that sealed bids for three new buildings, a pipe tunnel and a pigery.

Architects for the new work, the announcement said, will be two Pittsburgh firms.

The three buildings are to be rectangular, with wings, and connected by ramps, and have dimensions and attic high with a basement. A 300-foot concrete pipe tunnel, four by six feet, connects the new building with the present building.

Complete plans are already prepared, it is said.

Bids will be opened in Harrisburg on November 26.

SUNDAY

On Other Nov. 14th—1765—Robert Fulton was born in Lancaster county, Pa., where at 13 he took up his career of invention at 13. He, however, chose miniature painting as his profession, and he regarded his torpedo boat as a more important achievement than his steamboat.

25 Years Ago Today—Barbara Hutton Haugwitz von Reventlow, title-collecting heiress, was born. Other Nov. 14 birthdays: Charles Allen Liddle, b. 1877, president Pullman-Standard Car Manufacturing Co.; Morton Downey, b. 1901, radio crooner; Richard "Dick" Powell, b. 1904, photoplay crooner; Lewis O. Field, b. 1902, photoplay actor known as Jackie Oakie; Wilbur (Budd) Hulick, b. 1905, radio comedian.

1910—The first airplane flight from a ship was made by Eugene Ely, civilian pilot, who took off in a 57 foot plane, from an 83-foot runway aboard the U. S. S. Birmingham, in Hampton Roads, and flew two miles to Norfolk.

The flight was made to convince the Navy the plane could be used from ships. The catapult did not come until two years later, the airplane carrier later.

1916—Henryk Sienkiewicz died, having immortalized himself by writing Quo Vadis. More than a million copies of the novel were sold in the Polish author's lifetime, and he did not profit from many of them. His American publishers failed to publish and copyright a Polish text within six months of its publication in Poland, and the then existing copyright laws failed to protect rights on the book. It was pirated by many printers.

Justice Brandeis Is 81 Years Old

Noted Supreme Court Liberal Observes Birthday Very Quietly Today

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—Justice Louis Dembitz Brandeis, noted supreme court liberal, today quietly observed his 81st birthday with his family.

Although messages flowed into his modest apartment from all sections of the country, Brandeis apparently wanted the occasion to pass with as little notice as possible.

The justice, with his associates, was to spend the afternoon in case conference acting upon cases pending before them.

Ignoring rumors he might leave the court, Justice Brandeis announced through his secretary that he would maintain his unbroken record of refusing to give interviews.

Born Nov. 13, 1856, in Louisville, Ky., Brandeis has occupied a prominent position on the supreme court for 21 years and six months. Once known as one of the "great dissenters," he now is more frequently in the majority in closely divided decisions of the court.

Rug Made By Local Resident Wins Prize

Fine Workmanship Shown By Miss Mary Moorhead, Blind Resident Of City

At a Farmers' Institute held near Quaker City, O., recently a rug made by Miss Mary S. Moorhead, of 105 South Crawford avenue, New Castle, was on display.

The rug, orange and black, four by two feet in size, was made of eighty pairs of discarded silk hose, hooked double strand. It was deemed the prize by the county home demonstration agent of Guernsey county.

Miss Moorhead is to be especially commended because she must do her work without seeing it. She cuts the material, sews and hooks it and by keeping the colors in separate bags, does not get them confused.

Some one must color the material for orders of definite colors—everything else she does herself.

And there, young lady, is my answer to your question.

That's why that boy whom you've "known all my life" is suddenly rushing you. Perhaps my answer doesn't make any sense for you. It's the explanation of an adult looking backward through years at childhood, at the small boy he used to be.

A youngster for whom some little girl whom he had known all his life suddenly becomes a fearful, delightful and mysterious creature. I was that Tom who takes you to parties. You were that little girl for whom I used to wait in agony and delight. . . . And you can't possibly know how ancient you make me feel.

our meat, our steel for goods that we need from abroad not only would save people from starving but would give peoples here and in other countries the means by which to use the gold in purchases.

It is not so sure that the United States will lose much gold in the net. Japan has had to dispose of some here to meet war contingencies. (The war is proving no easy matter to Japan.)

Besides, the United States actually earns money in letting some of the gold go to Europe. You will recall the treasury borrowed $1,250,000,000 to buy gold at $35 an ounce. Now it has been selling it at $35.23. With the money, the treasury redeems bills to buy the gold. Thus interest, too, is saved. The money received in return for the gold is added to the treasury's working balance.

France, which has been receiving the gold, badly needs it. The United States has $1,270,000,000 worth in its inactive fund.

The gold, sold by the United States in the past six weeks—more than $150,000,000 worth—came from the undisclosed U. S. holdings of the American

WASHINGTON AT A GLANCE

Motor Deaths Cause Concern

Washington Feels No Optimism In Effort To Control Auto Fatalities

NUMBER KEEPS GROWING YEARLY

Central Press
Washington Bureau
602 Times-Herald Bldg.
By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Columnist.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 13.—Secretary of Commerce Daniel C. Roper is nearly 100 per cent discouraged relative to a solution of the automobile accident problem.

Washington had an auto show recently and Roper issued a statement in connection with it. "There are few situations in the world," he said, "absolutely without hope, but candor compels me to say that very little cause for optimism can be found in the field of accident prevention—particularly in that segment relating to street and highway fatalities."

Meaning, the secretary continued: Automobile killings!

TERRIBLE SLAUGHTER

The cabinet member's statement mentioned approximately 37,000 such deaths in the United States in 1936. That was more than in any previous year, but 1937's total will be larger than 1936's, and 1938's record, the statement's author surmises, will be worse than this year's. The public is shocked, but the slaughter not only continues; it increases.

The same day that Secretary Roper's statement appeared, the announcement was made that certain drivers for the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey (drivers operating in Delaware, Maryland and the District of Columbia) had been added to the company's "roll of honor for five years of driving for the corporation without an accident." The company maintains one of the largest truck fleets in the world, its personnel running into four figures. And how many of them achieved what is described as "this unusual record?"

Twenty-three! And, as such records go among habitual drivers, the announcement did not err in calling it "unusual." Twenty-three safe drivers, among hundreds, was a creditable proportion.

ROPER'S OPINION

Secretary Roper conjectures that "accident prevention never will be effective until leading executives of the country, including those engaged in the manufacture and sale of motor cars, take over the safety job personally."

But what are auto manufacturers and salesmen going to do about it?—even if they try?

They cannot manufacture and sell foolproof automobiles. Horses (I can remember those days) were partly foolproof. A horse has sense enough not to like to get into an accident. He shies away from colliding with another horse or running down a pedestrian.

But an automobile? Or the chap at the wheel of one? Murder!

POOR PEDESTRIAN!

Personally I do not care so much as to crash between automobiles and automobiles, except when I happen to be in a bus or a taxicab. I am not an autoist; I am exclusively a pedestrian.

In olden days a pedestrian always had the right of way. It is common law, although suicidal to claim.

All traffic regulations of today are made with a view to the facilitation of automotive traffic. The pedestrian doesn't signify. Even if he can get across a street intersection straight-away, right and left turns catch him.

"WORST" CITY

Washington is perhaps the meanest of all traffic cities, due to the peculiar conglomeration of many of its street intersections, as planned by Major L'Enfant, long before the auto era.

Once I wrote a news article, cussing the capital's traffic regulation. At that time one M. O. Eldridge was in charge of these regulations. He called at my office, with blood in his eye. "I know what's the matter with you," he told me. "You, as an autoist, have busted our regulations, and now you're hollering."

"Mr. Eldridge," I answered, "I never owned or drove an automobile."

Rage faded from his features. Astonishment succeeded it. "By heck," he said, "I'll tell the Smithsonian institution about you. They'll be wild about you, as a curiosity."

TUT, TUT, MR. STEWART! The remedy for the automotive killing of pedestrians is simple enough—if it could be applied.

Every time a pedestrian is killed, the bystanders ought to lynch the killer to the nearest tree branch or trolley pole. Half a dozen of these hangings would put a stop to automobile recklessness.

But it is an impossible remedy, of course.

Because all of the bystanders are sure to be other automobilists.

I speak as a pedestrian.

William Tyrrell Is Dean Of City Police Force

William Tyrrell is the dean of the police force, possessing the longest service record. He was a puddler in the steel mill, when appointed in 1908 by the late Harry Lusk, who was then mayor.

Since then Tyrrell has served continuously, excepting for two years when he was released during the Socialist reign at city hall. During the 27 years service he has occupied the roles of patrolman, desk sergeant and at present is a traffic officer and favorably known by thousands of school children.

His career started when the police department was without the conveniences of today. It was in 1908 when the badge of law and order was pinned over his chest. Jos. Gilmore of the seventh ward was chief of police. Tyrrell asserts that the police of yesteryear were the equal of the police of today. The department did not have the up-to-date methods then, such as an alarm system, fingerprint bureau, photographic bureau, police radio and cruisers with radios.

"Whenever we got a call in those days we had to answer on foot. We had to take the person in charge and hold him until the patrol wagon arrived. Usually it took 15 or more minutes to reach the scene of trouble because the beats were long."

"Whenever we reported to headquarters, which was about every hour, we had to go to a private telephone because there were no such boxes containing telephones as the department now possesses. The police sergeant in those days had a system of summoning us by fire bells."

"If he wanted to send us on a call he would telephone to a fire station and the firemen would ring the fire bell at once. We would go to the fire house and either get our orders from the fireman or else telephone to the sergeant."

"The criminal of yesteryear was different from the criminal of today. They were usually around 40 or 45 years of age whereas today the criminal is much younger, the average age of the bandit and gunman of today being from 18 to 25 years of age."

"Were there any bank robberies in those days?"

"None. We had burglaries but they were not numerous. Seldom did one hear of a hold-up or a man having been struck over the head and 'rolled'. Hold-ups and attacks are more frequent these days. The criminals of today make those of yesteryear appear pickers."

Tyrrell said machine-guns and gunmen were practically unheard of. However, he added that "in those days we had real men; strong men; men whom, when we were called upon to arrest, generally put up a fight."

"It was often we had to ask a civilian in a crowd to put in a call for the wagon. In those days we did not have a cruiser car that could reach any point in the city within a few moments. In fact, we did not have conveniences. We were mostly 'on our own'."

"How about murders?"

"Sure we had them. Speakeasies operated then like now and I expect they always will. The criminal today is the one who hates work. He will adopt what he believes the easiest way to get money. The methods of today were unknown when I first joined the force," Tyrrell stated.

Two sergeants in those days were the late William McClain and Gene Buckley. McClain was the day turn sergeant and Buckley was in charge of the desk at night. When Mayor A. D. Newell assumed office he appointed Tyrrell as a sergeant. The latter served in that capacity for eight years.

Later he was given a beat which he thoroughly enjoys. He looks after traffic in the vicinity of the city building and guards children who attend the North street school. Every little chap or girl knows him as "Bill" and everyone of them is his "pal."

William Forbes to James McCree, Wayne township, $1.
Jennie Yachabock to Mary Marino, Hillsville, 1.

Expense account of Joseph F. Traveler, candidate for sheriff on the Democratic ticket, has been filed at the county commissioners' office. It shows expenditures of $261.84 during the campaign.

County Commissioner George Bolinger and Alderman O. H. P. Green are trying their luck hunting in the wilds of Clarion county today. Green is the county's No. 1 hunter, holding license No. 1.

Letters of administration in the estate of the late Mary Nesbit, of North Beaver township, have been issued by Register and Recorder William R. Hanna to Netta Fuller.

Letters in the estate of John H. Booher, late of Shenango township, have been issued to Bertha B. Booher. In the estate of the late J. Forrester Powell, of this city, letters have been issued to Alice M. Powell, and in the estate of Edward Richardson, late of New Castle, letters have been issued to Richard J. Davidson.

An unusual co-incidence was noted at court this week in the trial of the Price case against the New Castle Refractories Company. The defense was represented by an ex-judge, J. Norman Martin, and a judge-elect, Thomas W. Dickey, while the plaintiff was represented by an ex-county solicitor, John P. Lockhart, and a present city solicitor, William D. Cobau. It was probably the first time in the history of Lawrence county that a combination of that kind ever tried a case.

Expense accounts indicating that their campaign expenses were under fifty dollars at the recent election have been filed at the county commissioners' office by Wallace J. Ewing, successful Republican aldermanic candidate in the Second ward; Paul J. Perry, Democratic candidate for the same office; William M. Robinson, candidate for supervisor in Union township, and Edward P. Munn, candidate for tax collector in Mahoning township.

When the WPA workers who are compiling a list of delinquent taxes in Lawrence county complete their work, County Treasurer Joseph H. Hartland will have in his office a card index system of all the delinquents. This will enable him to tell instantly exactly what a taxpayer owes. As it is at present, it is necessary to spend considerable time in going over records before the amount of the delinquency is ascertained. The new system will help wonderfully in cases where taxpayers have taken advantage of the recent act to pay their delinquent taxes in five equal annual payments. It will be easy to keep track of them under the card system. The WPA workers have been working practically all summer on the job and are not near through yet.

Proposed plans for building an addition and changing the rooms in the court house are at a standstill, awaiting the approval or disapproval of the court. Testimony relating to the plans was taken some time ago. At that time certain changes were suggested, and they may be incorporated in the report when it is handed down.

Automobile accident cases still continue to occupy considerable time of the court. These cases are seldom settled for two principal reasons. One is the difference of opinion between those involved as to who was to blame for the accident, and the other is the reluctance of insurance companies to settle, where one or both the parties involved, carried liability insurance. The insurance companies often prefer to wait until a verdict is rendered before making overtures as to terms of settlement. The records show that there is a growing disposition on the part of motorists to carry insurance, especially if they own any property aside from their car.

The above picture shows Mrs. J. D. Thompson, 221 East Madison Ave., winner of the three rooms of furniture receiving them from "Fat" Sanders of the famous "Country Store" which occurs every Monday night at the Cathedral.

These three pictures are actual photographs of the three room ensemble chosen by "Fat" Sanders from Haney's large stock. Each piece was carefully selected by Haney's to create a harmonious grouping.

The large and responsive crowds attending "Fat Sanders and his Country Store" at the Cathedral are making Monday evening a gala event! Thrills, laughs, gifts, stunts... Don't miss the next show.

Former Local Man In Stage Play

New Castle theatre goers who have attended the stage success now playing the Nixon theatre in Pittsburgh, "King Richard 2nd," starring Maurice Evans will be interested to know that a former New Castle man, Rhys Williams, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rhys Williams who for many years resided on Bleakley avenue, is a member of the cast. Mr. Williams is an assistant stage manager for the company and also takes two parts in the play, that of "Captain of a Band of Welchmen" and the part of "A Groom".

Since leaving New Castle Mr.

Williams has been engaged in theatrical enterprises. For a time he was engaged in managing a company of Tony Sarg's "Marionettes". Later he was company manager of the "Queen Elizabeth" company that played the Chicago and San Diego centennials.

He is a brother of Tom and Justin Williams who are engaged in the musical field. Attending the play in Pittsburgh Thursday night, from New Castle, were, Miss Myfanwy Lewis, Dr. and Mrs. D. Duff Scott, Misses Edith Birchard, Ethel Kelley, Helen Westlake, Emily Johnson.

USE PRACTICES THAT STOP CHICKEN VICES

Eight different practices are suggested as aids in controlling feather picking and cannibalism in poultry flocks.

First of all, feed an adequate ration.

A second practice consists of feeding less corn and more oats and barley in scratch grain.

A third suggestion is to provide adequate hopper space. Place hoppers and fountains high enough to prevent the hens from picking the bottoms of others while eating and drinking.

Keep the birds busy is a fourth practice. This may be done by feeding limited quantities of scratch grain frequently. Condensed milk may be smeared on boards suspended from the ceiling or on side-walls. Some poultrymen feed alfalfa, clover, or soy hay; others feed mangels or cabbage. Still another way to keep the birds busy is to place whole oats before the birds in troughs on the floor.

Fifth, darken the nests. Have nests and nest perches so arranged that the hens cannot stand close to the nest and pick the laying birds.

A sixth practice consists of providing plenty of nests and preventing the pullets in every way possible from laying eggs on the floor.

Seventh, watch the birds carefully. Find and remove birds which appear to be cannibals. Tips of upper beaks can be removed.

As a final practice, anti-pick devices may be used.

HOME GARDEN RECORDS SHOW VALUE OF CROPS

The family vegetable garden may yield greater return than any other half-acre of crop land on the farm. Records of demonstration gardens conducted show that efficient use of labor in soil preparation and weed control are important factors in making home gardens profitable.

Two gardens in Forest County are typical of well-managed ones. These produced a year's supply of varied healthful and nutritious vegetables at a low cost.

John Pascarella, West Hickory, had a half-acre garden which supplied enough vegetables for 260 quarts of canned food, 18 bushels of stored produce, and an abundance of fresh vegetables including 11 kinds of green or salad crops, onions, pumpkins and squash, 5 root vegetables, and 7 miscellaneous crops.

These figures do not include vegetables sold, but amounts actually used by a family of 8 persons. The total net profit from this garden was $124.70, estimating the value of vegetables used at $151.51. Cash costs were $6.80 for seed, manure, and insect control materials.

Mrs. John Matzer's garden, near Tionesta, produced a net return estimated at $107.20 and the vegetables used would have cost approximately $133.90.

CLEAN UP GARDEN TO CURB PLANT DISEASE

A fall cleanup of the garden is more than "an ounce of prevention" in the control of vegetable diseases.

Pitt-Nebraska Game Headlines

Cornhuskers From Midwest Hope To Upset Powerful Pitt Panthers

PENN-MICHIGAN BATTLING TODAY

(International News Service) PITTSBURGH, Nov. 13.—The clash between the Pitt Panthers and the Nebraska Cornhuskers overshadowed more than a score of college football games being played today throughout the state in importance.

Four other games also drew the public eye in the state. They were Lafayette against W. & J. Temple and Bucknell, Pennsylvania and Michigan, and Waynesburg and St. Vincent. A headline battle out of state was staged between Carnegie Tech and Michigan State, at East Lansing.

Pitt and Nebraska met for the 12th time today before a record crowd of approximately 72,000 fans, the first complete sell-out at Pitt stadium for this season. Out of 11 encounters the Cornhuskers have taken one, the 1921 game, the opener between the two schools. They have held the Panthers to three scoreless ties. Pitt has chalked up seven victories over their rivals, the highest score being in 1930, when they swamped Maj. "Biff" Jones' boys 40-0.

Lafayette vs. W. & J. Out of state, a highly favored Michigan State eleven met the Carnegie Tech Tartans. The latter have only two wins to their credit this season and both were upsets, one a 9-7 win over Notre Dame, the other 6-0 over Duquesne.

Coach Ed "Hooks" Mylin pitted his undefeated and untied Lafayette eleven against the comparatively weaker Washington and Jefferson at Easton. The Leopards were out to avenge their 31-6 defeat handed them by the Presidents last year.

Pop Warner's Temple Owls, beaten only by Michigan State but tied, battled Bucknell.

Pennsylvania met their perennial rivals, the Michigan Wolverines, at Philadelphia. Michigan to date has won three games and lost three.

TALES IN TIDBITS

By BILL BRAUCHER

Central Press Sports Editor

A young man in the Rocky mountains has made life easier for the All-American selectors this fall . . . they have to pick only ten men instead of eleven, because of him . . . and the difficult task of eastern pickers to choose a Rocky mountain representative on the team is all ironed out.

The young man is Byron White, University of Colorado player . . . they call the young man of the mountains "Whizzer," indicative of his habits of going from here to there . . . not since Dutch Clark came around the mountains has there been such a ball carrier, according to those who have seen him perform . . . and some of those who have watched him saw Dutch Clark going about his trade, too . . . The Whizzer is All-American by many, many miles.

Considering his speed, the Whizzer is a big lad . . . six feet one inch tall, weighing 185 pounds, 20 years old . . . besides being president of the student body, he is an "A" student, a Phi Beta Kappa, candidate for a Rhodes scholarship and member of honorary campus societies . . . for a living he hurls hash at the fraternity house and does odd jobs around the stadium.

But it is his odd jobs of football that toss this department into the aisle upon its ear . . . as a sophomore, in his first appearance, he was whizzing round the mountain against University of Oklahoma when he ran into a snag, and was so severely injured that physicians advised him to forget football for the rest of his life . . . what he forgot, though, was the doctor's orders, for he came right back and played . . . and in basketball he came high scoring guard of the conference . . . as a junior he won all the honors the conference could bestow, leading all hands in scoring.

This year the wild man from Wellington started whizzing where he left off last fall . . . in the game with Utah, he scored all of his team's 17 points . . . and Coach Harry Hughes of the Colorado State team labeled him the greatest player he ever had seen in the conference . . . Hughes has been there since 1912 . . . Hughes was scouting the Colorado-Utah game . . . and previously he had seen Whizzer against his own State eleven . . . Whizzer was in that game only 20 minutes, and all he scored was 23 points.

White did a little better against Colorado Mines . . . he was in the game 12 minutes and scored 24 points, running 65 yards off tackle for a touchdown the first time they handed him the melon . . . he has kicked 16 out of 20 conversions and completed 22 out of 47 passes.

Missouri saw him whiz 175 yards carrying the ball . . . and Missouri coaches said his job of signal calling was as fine as they ever had seen . . . he has studied football with the same diligence he applies to trigonometry . . . practicing hours kicking at a red flag on the two-yard line . . . passing through a rubber tire . . . booting placements from all angles.

After graduation . . . he says he's going to be a lawyer!

Bears Will Battle Youngstown Sunday

Several Thousand Expected To Watch Independent Grid Game Here

Headlining the program here tomorrow afternoon is the Wabash Bears-Youngstown Owls battle carded for the E. and A. grounds. The kick-off is scheduled for 3 o'clock.

Earlier in the season, the Seventh Warders fell before the attack of the Owls, 15-0. The Bears will bank on Gabby DeCaprio, fleet, tough, man. If the DeCaprio to Toscano combination works, the Ohioans will be in for a rough afternoon. The Bears' lineup will be something like this: Harry Toscano, Dibby, Skip Russo, John Piccutta, Blackie Adamo, Monk Rainey, Obe Rainey, Lee Piccutta, Gabby DeCaprio, Pat Blisco, Tony Tommelco.

CIVIL SERVICE REAL TARGET SAYS HOOVER

(International News Service) SYRACUSE, N. Y., Nov. 13.—Substitution of "personal political control" for civil service was the criticism which former President Herbert Hoover aimed at President Roosevelt's proposed government reorganization plan today.

Speaking at Syracuse University last night, Hoover asserted: "No matter what the words of that bill (the reorganization bill) may purport to mean, it is clear that the plan is to destroy the progress we have made (in civil service) and substitute personal political control."

Of education programs he warned that America must educate its youth for democracy as Russia, Japan, Germany and Italy have succeeded in educating their youth for "autocracy."

Why worry about a new ism? If it is good for us, we gain something; if it isn't good for us, it never lasts.

Bessemer Team Is Outstanding

Could Hold Own With Many Class A And Class AA Foes In District

FINISH SEASON WITHOUT DEFEAT

Shoup Converts 19 Out Of 22 Placements; Capezzutti Is Coach

In a little borough southwest of the city there is considerable rejoicing these days. And the citizens have the reason to celebrate.

In this little town of Bessemer, one of the sweetest clicking Class B football teams in the history of the school was molded together during the past several months by an energetic and conscientious young man, Coach Capezzutti.

Briefly, the record of this red and black clad machine is a corker. Hubbard, Ursuline, Evans City, Union, Freedom, Shenango, Mercer and Lowellville have all fallen before the powerful attack of this team. Hubbard, Ursuline and Lowellville, all are topnotch clubs in Ohio. Lowellville, the last foe, was undefeated prior to meeting the Bessemer lads, who crushed through in a blaze of glory 12-7.

In Pittsburgh, the undefeated Bessemerites are being considered for the Class B title. If there is a team in the district that deserves more than consideration, it is Bessemer. The team has everything a championship team needs. The ends, A. Drabush and C. Dararo, were alert and of championship caliber.

The entire line is like the Seven Mules of Notre Dame fame. Thru-out the season the line was never outplayed. It is a hard charging wall that refuses to budge. On a number of occasions the line fought with back against the wall and came through with flying colors. In the last game with Lowellville, the Ohioans started out with what seemed to be an unstoppable attack, reaching within the shadow of the Bessemer goal line. The line tossed back the Lowellville team and turned what appeared as certain defeat into a startling triumph over a hitherto undefeated club. Its a tough job endeavoring to select the mainstays on the line. They were all good, a gang of cooperating yeomen.

Back Sparkling. The backfield was sparkling. The backs were an array of clever passers, blockers and all it takes to form a championship team. Galena looking like a young gazelle running up and down the field. His dashes ran the opposing teams dizzy throughout the season. DeArment proved a crackerjack at quarterback and Notareschi was one of the flashiest men on the team. Shoup smashed thru that line like Patrick of Pitt. His spinners gained considerable yardage.

When it comes to kicking a point after touchdown, this lad Shoup can hold his own with any of them. His trusty toe booted 19 out of 22 points between the uprights. He missed twice in the Lowellville game. The reserve strength was also above par. Lose 12 Men.

Twelve gridders ended their schoolboy careers on Armistice Day. They are: DiLullo, Galena, Mandich, Gallo, Hedberg, Grist, Germanovich, Metlica, Anderson, Shusman, Skoic and Notareschi. Coach Capezzutti will have a headache when it comes time to mold together another club. Regardless of what next season's club will be like, this year's team is absolutely a honey, one that could hold its own with any Class B club in the district and many Class A and Class AA foes.

Uram And Mike Face Each Other

Johnny Uram and George Mike, former team mates at New Castle High school faced each other last night on opposite teams, when West Virginia Wesleyan defeated Salem College 7 to 0 at Buckhannon, West Virginia. Uram is a Salem halfback and Mike is a tackle at Wesleyan.

Game Commission Is Put On "Spot"

(International News Service) HARRISBURG, Nov. 13.—Charges and denials that the state game commission was guilty of favoritism in issuing special "doe licenses" for this month's three-day season on antlerless deer echoed here today as the Dauphin county court, halted testimony and ordered final arguments for Monday in the injunction suit to bar an open season.

Counsel for the game commission met the charges by calling several witnesses who allegedly had submitted defective applications for the special $2 doe permits. Many applications, the commission held, were improperly filled out by the applicant who failed to re-submit them in time after the commission had returned the original papers for correction. One of these was Earl Gardner, Elk county resident, who was called as a witness.

Hunters from Elk, Clinton and Cameron counties brought the suits, and were granted preliminary injunctions to restrain the commission from issuance of the licenses. They charged the body exceeded its "discretionary authority" in declaring an open season on doe and by not issuing licenses on a "first come, first served" basis.

An estimated 150 hunters from Clinton, Cameron, Elk, Forest, Warren, Clarion, Jefferson, Westmoreland and Potter counties were present at yesterday's hearing before Judge John E. Fox.

Manager Tony Domenick also announced that the Bears Club would be in a new location in the very near future.

The Bears will try hard to average a 15 to 0 defeat handed them at Youngstown earlier in the year. The lineups—Wabash Bears—A. Rainey left end, L. Rainey, left tackle, S. Russo left guard, J. Piccutta center, Adamo right guard, M. Rainey right tackle, Toscano right end, L. Piccutta quarterback, DeCaprio left half, Bullico, right half and Tomalelli full back.

Fannins To Play Youngstown Team

Back from Rockview Penitentiary where they tied the Western Penitentiary team 6-6 Thursday the Fannin football team will go to Youngstown on Sunday to meet the Youngstown Merchants at the Evans field. The game starts at 2:30 o'clock.

In the Rockview game "Boney" Jones and Walt Palkovitch were the best bets. Palkovitch going over for the lone marker.

PICKING TIME FOR CRANBERRIES HERE

(International News Service) WARREN, Mass.—They may rate only a side dish on your Thanksgiving menu, but on Cape Cod within the next few days, King Cranberry will reign supreme.

Five million dollars is the value the good folk of Cape Cod estimate the current crop of those luscious berries.

The harvest which is expected to reach from 450,000 to 500,000 will be reaped by steel toothed handpickers, wooded scoops and the time honored handpicking method sans the modern frills.

Year's Sport Activities Here Reach "New High"

When sports moguls in the city and county start to take inventory soon, they will readily discover that sports activities reached an unexpected high during the year. The crowds backed up various events by attending in great numbers.

With the basketball season around the corner, it would be a good idea to sort of glance over records of last season. The strong Bessemer high club walked off with the class B honors. The junior high titlists were the blue and gold jerseyed lads of Ben Franklin junior high school. The Church League champs were the Epworth M. E. passers, while the Polish Falcons captured the city and county pennants. The Lincoln Tigers crashed through with the WPA league banner, while the Keystone Midgets won the honor in their class.

Softball One of the most popular sports of the season was softball. The sport set some kind of a high as far as crowds are concerned. As high as 3,000 fans huddled around the sandlots to watch the softballers go to it. Games were replete with action. The National Radiators not only won the city title, but also the county laurels, with an exceptionally good club. The South Side Merchants were crowned champs of the junior division, while the Hoods topped off all competition in the midget class. The N. Y. A. club were titlists in the WPA league.

Baseball Baseball, recognized as the chief sport of the summer months, produced more than its share of thrills for thousands of county fans. Bessemer copped the County league laurels, while West Pittsburg won a pennant, winning the City league banner. The Catholics were junior champs of the city.

The king of ball sports, football, created more interest than in several years. Bessemer's crack Class B club won the Lawrence County Class B title and was also undefeated. The Mahoning Junior high team was crowned Junior high champions while the Wabash Bears tucked away another city-county independent title. The Catholics managed to squeeze through with the Junior champs.

Fathers And Sons Banquet At U. P. Church Successful

Rev. Chester Yeates, Of New Castle, Is Principal Speaker
ELLWOOD CITY, Nov. 13.—One of the most enjoyable and successful events of Friday evening took place at the United Presbyterian church when a fathers and sons banquet was held as the combined efforts of the Anna Wilson, Hannah P. McDonald, Berean and Berachah classes.

Promptly at 6:30 p. m., the group, numbering 256, were seated at long tables featuring Thanksgiving appointments and served a delicious turkey dinner with all the accompaniments that left nothing to be desired in the way of culinary accomplishments. Members of the two women's classes prepared and served the dinner.

Rev. W. E. Minter, pastor of the church, capably filled the role of toastmaster. Donald Burrows extended a toast to the fathers and James Brown responded to the sons. A duet was contributed by Dale and Ralston Warnock. The church orchestra, "The Little Hoosier Hot Shots," provided entertaining music throughout the evening.

As the climactic feature, Rev. Minter introduced the speaker, Rev. Chester Yeates, of the Third U. P. church, who gave an entertaining account of his recent trip to the Holy Land. Rev. Yeates distributed souvenirs that he brought home with him to the group.

Much credit for the successful event is due the following committee: T. H. Patterson, Frank McKim, E. J. Liebenfelder, Will Warnock and Joseph Kaiser.

Arrangements were immediately made to move the exhibit to the Ellwood City Furniture Company, where Manager Carl Martin very graciously donated a full window for display.

CARRIES CAMPING GROUND ALONG

Motorized skyscraper
When Lionel Gibby, deer hunter of Ogden, Utah, goes hunting and seeks camping ground in the wide open spaces all cluttered up with riflemen, he just goes "upstairs" to his motorized skyscraper and camps out. The first story of the unusual vehicle is the body of a light coupe. Upstairs is a wooden platform, bolted and welded to the frame, a tent and camping equipment. Gibby is shown with his son, Arthur, left, and a neighbor.

Frank Silvasi Is Victim Of Hit-Run Driver

Ellport Man Very Seriously Injured Friday Evening When Struck By Car

ELLWOOD CITY, Nov. 13.—An Ellport man is in a very critical condition at the Ellwood City hospital this morning following an accident that occurred at 7:30 p. m. Friday near the St. Joseph Catholic church at Ellport, when he was struck by a hit and run driver.

The victim is Frank Silvasi, aged 50, and he is suffering from a compound fracture of the right leg, multiple fractures of the left leg, lacerations on his head and shock. Mr. and Mrs. Silvasi and their family, who had attended a meeting at the St. Joseph's church, were on their way home when the accident occurred. They were walking on the correct side of the road. Mr. Silvasi ahead of his family, when a car approaching in the direction of Ellwood City left the road, striking Mr. Silvasi, throwing him back against his wife, who received minor injuries.

The injured man was taken to the local hospital by a passing motorist. The Ellwood City and state police investigated the accident and they discovered only one small clue as to the identity of the driver. According to other Ellport residents, who were also returning home from the church, there was no car approaching in the other direction to crowd the offending car off the road at the time of the accident.

Games filled the social hour in a merry manner with nice awards won by Miss Burns, Miss Ruth Nye and Miss Aubuchon. Attractively appointed refreshments served by Miss Cable, concluded the event.

FEELING HIGH

Seeing a passing stranger, the reveler pointed to a bright orb reflected in the still shining water of the lake.

"What's that?" he whispered excitedly.

"That's the moon," was the reply. "Goo' grassh—how did I get up here!"

Let's not kid ourselves. Our moral sense hasn't changed. We used to talk fight when Turks butchered Armenians because we knew the Turks couldn't hurt us.

Trading Small In Stock Market

Wall Street Watching Opening Of Special Congress Session On Monday

By LESLIE GOULD
International News Service
Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—The stock market recovered at the close today under the lead of steel shares, after drifting moderately lower through most of the two-hour session.

Trading was at an extremely slow pace, with sales totaling 510,000 shares. Price changes in most instances were of fractional proportions. Plus signs were slightly in the majority.

The trend was generally lower at the opening, and losses were increased slightly as the session progressed. In the last half-hour, though, prices firmed as steel responded to favorable estimates on next week's operations.

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—The stock market drifted lower in today's abbreviated session, under a continuation of yesterday's late profit-taking.

Volume was exceedingly small and price changes in the majority of cases were unimportant. The trend was irregularly lower at the opening, and the main body of stocks slipped a little further before the end of the first hour.

There was no pressure on the list, leaders slipping on the absence of buying orders at market levels. Trading ran at the rate of considerably less than a half-million shares for the two hours.

Attendance in the financial district was kept down by the weather; professionals went through the usual evening-up operations for over the week-end.

Wall Street was awaiting the opening of the special session of congress on Monday, hopeful something would be done on a revision of the surplus profits and the capital gains taxes.

Ownership Of News Stand In Dispute

Trial To Determine If Ellwood News Stand Is Part Of Harris Estate

Suit to determine the ownership of the Ellwood City News company was taken up for trial before Judge W. Walter Braham at Lawrence county court this morning. Walter L. Harris, who operated the news stand, died on March 25, 1936, leaving to survive him his wife, Lois Harris, and a daughter, Marjorie Harris, who was born subsequent to his death.

He left a will in which his brothers, Thomas F. Harris and Harry A. Harris, were named as executors. In this will one-third of the estate was left to his wife and two-thirds to his mother, Jennie E. Harris. Mrs. Harris, the widow, elected to take against the will.

The question arose as to whether the Ellwood City News company should be included as an asset of the estate. Mrs. Jennie Harris, the mother, claims that it was purchased with her money and belonged to her, and that her son was employed to run it, and that therefore, it should not be included as an asset of the estate.

The testimony which is being offered is for the purpose of establishing the real ownership in order that the estate may be properly divided.

Remember Inns In Traveling

McIntyre Says That People
Remember Hotels Above Anything Else In Travels

MELODRAMA IS ENACTED DAILY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, Nov. 13.—The majority of our travel remembrances are of hotels. Most of my life has been spent in them. My father was a hotel proprietor. I was once a night clerk and later a hotel press agent. To this day I annex a tangle in finding lodging in a strange inn. On the stage—"Grand Hotel," for example—in the movies and in literature, some of the most exciting plots have been hatched in hotels. I never register at a hotel that I do not feel that something is going to happen.

O. O. McIntyre

where behind the scenes a lively drama is brewing. Every 24 hours in a big city hotel there is material for a dozen newspaper columns, plots for a novel or so and the makings of a play. I recall one bit of high voltage drama at a hotel I was publicizing—and one which a humane medical examiner saved from the headlines.

She was a beautiful woman of notable ancestry who had married out of her class. To a bounder who taught her to drink and use drugs. Deserted, she came to our hotel, pistol in hand, and her hand clenched a scrawl to her husband: "I die cursing you!"

There are innumerable hotels that geyser jets of pleasant remembrances for me. That famed St. Nicholas of Cincinnati days—a bandbox of an inn that fairly drenched the patrons with a cut glass luxury. Even 25 years ago its employees changed to evening attire at sundown. Elevators were sprayed with a delicate scent every few hours and the operators wore buckled knee pants and silk stockings, the clerks full evening dress. Always on the breakfast plate a red rose, glistening with dew.

Then the old Planter's in St. Louis, with Tony Faust's restaurant hard by. Through the Planter's spacious lobby roamed the wide-hatted, high-booted, cattle dealers from all points. Men who drank whiskey neat, smoked 50-cent cigars while in the city and bestowed silver dollar tips. Somehow I associate the Planter's with the venerable St. Charles in New Orleans in whose rambling dining room with looped hangings, I enjoyed a memorable breakfast—a fare of golden buckwheat cakes, scrambled eggs, sausage cakes and cinnamon-sprinkled apple rings and coffee, the like of which I have rarely tasted before or since.

For 13 years I resided as a paying patron at the Ritz Carlton in New York, and as a bouquet for its managing director, Albert Keller, I can add that not once in that long period was I justified in making a single complaint. So attached to it had I become that it was a long time before I could pass it without a wince—and to stop in now and then is like getting back home again.

I also love the rambling old Ritz in Paris, with its inside garden, where fountains rise and fall and patches of flowers are slit by cool gravel walks. I like the Place Vendôme side concierge, with his wisp of imperial, so obedient you'd never suspect he was one of the large stockholders. And Oliver, the head waiter, whose snow white chin whiskers are waxed and curled precisely like a dapper mustache. Hotels, like the imposing and restful Breakers at Palm Beach, the Coronado at Coronado Beach, the timely but comfortable United States at Saratoga, the colorful bar at the Regis in Mexico City, the jeweled Boule Mich from the old Congress in Chicago, and the mint julep crowd at the Seelback in Louisville.

The most comfortable bed ever slept in was at The Dome in Cologne and there was that jostly water front hotel in Antwerp—the Queen—from whose windows I watched the long line of cars driving their Beribboned Percherons with one line, all night. The Adlon in Berlin and the gold statue of the Kaiser. And the Kaiserin Augustine Victoria at Weimar, where the manager greeted you at the door, acted as room service waiter, and often answered the call for a bell boy.

But the highlight of hotels to me was at the Amstel in Amsterdam, where at 10 o'clock at night I watched in a soft light as bright as day the drifting barges, and Dutch families aboard, along the canals while I ate a supper featuring almost coal black pumpernickel, chills of milk in a stein and five varieties of the tastiest cheese I ever come upon. There's interest, too, around the Savoy in London, which was the original of Arnold Bennett's great novel, Imperial Hotel. Especially the head bell boy in frock coat and ledger-ruled trousers. And Kitty and Collie, the bar maids. (Copyright, 1937, McNaught Syndicate)

WOLVES CLUB

SENIOR HIGH SCHOOL NEWS

(Material Gathered and Edited by Student Reporters)

MUSIC CLASSES

A Boy's Glee club and a Girl's Chorus have been organized for those interested in singing, under the supervision of Robert A. Duff. Each group meets separately for thirty minutes, two mornings a week before school takes up. These groups are not limited to students now enrolled in chorus but are open to any interested high school student. Classes are still open for enrollment.

HOME ROOM PROGRAMS

An instructive etiquette book "Behave Yourself" by Allen & Briggs, was distributed to all members of the faculty this week to be used in connection with the home room programs. Reports from different teachers have been to the effect that the home room programs have been interesting and helpful, and that a great variety of subjects have been discussed since the opening of the school term.

ELECTION CARDS

Preparations for the second semester of the year have already begun. Election cards were distributed among the students of senior high school as well as the junior high schools of the city. Election cards were also given to those who intend to come back after graduation, taking a post graduate course.

INTEREST GROUPS

Senior High Girl Reserves met Monday, November 8, in the Y. W. C. A. The meeting was called to order by President Elizabeth Yingling and devotionals were read by Lois Leddy. Minutes of the last meeting were read and approved and announcements were made by Lee-anna Morgan, Miss Dorothy Steuart, Mary Lou Fulkerson, Elizabeth Yingling and Jane Smith. The members then adjourned to interest groups.

HI-Y SPONSORS SALE

The Junior Hi-Y club is sponsoring the sale of football pins to high school students. The pins are gold-colored, in the shape of a football, with a red and black tassel suspended from one end. The money collected will be sufficient, it is hoped, to care for necessary expenditures of the club, without further taxing the members.

SENIOR HI-Y

President Bill Francis presided at the regular meeting of the Senior Hi-Y club Monday evening. It was announced that a skating party will be held next month. A report on a school newspaper was read by Joe Minze, with special remarks by Joseph Lockley. The meeting was adjourned to the Y. M. C. A. pool.

SCHOOL HOLIDAY THURSDAY

No school was held on Thursday in order to give students and teachers an opportunity to participate in Armistice Day memorial exercises.

GERMAN CLUB

The German club held a meeting Tuesday during the third period in room 118. The regular business meeting was replaced by a program arranged by the program committee. Dan Schnebly, program chairman, introduced E. T. Tinsman, who gave an interesting talk on coins.

Mr. Tinsman is an ardent collector of coins, and proved to be very informative on the subject. After having traced through the history and origin of coins in general, he exhibited and explained some of the more interesting coins of his collection. He continued this discussion in the fourth period in room 212. The club enjoyed his talk immensely, and look forward to another in the future. A regular business meeting will be held in two weeks.

HOME ECONOMICS ALUMNI CLUB

The Home Economics Alumni club met on November 3, at 7:30 o'clock, in the school. The evening was spent working on handicraft and exchanging ideas, after which refreshments were served. The next meeting will be held on November 17.

ARMISTICE DAY PROGRAM

In commemoration of Armistice Day, a program was given on November 10, with Norman P. Nelson, local post commander of the American Legion, in charge. The service men of the faculty, Howard A. Butler, N. R. Castillo, Donald P. Copson, W. A. Margraf, J. F. Replogle, George F. Thomas and Ralph L. Weide, were present on the platform. The students assembled to the strains of martial music played by the band.
